

Management Consultant

Government

We are looking for a self-motivated and experienced Consultant who is passionate about local government and public policy. If you have a technical background in public policy, finance, economics, project management, urban planning, or an infrastructure discipline we are keen to talk with you.

You will need to be able to apply your strategic thinking, problem solving, communication skills and business acumen to solve a wide range of challenges within the sphere of local government. Be financially literate and familiar with what it takes to deliver a project in the local government or a project delivery role in the broader public sector context.

This includes:

- Financial analysis
- Project management
- Strategic analysis
- Effective report writing and presentation skills
- Ability to inspire collaborators and colleagues.

You readily understand the business challenges of local government, and state and federal agencies, including understanding multi-faceted and conflicting goals, and non-financial objectives delivered within tight budgets.

To be successful in the role you will have:

- 5+ years' experience working in local government, a project delivery role in state or federal public sector, or consulting to government is essential.
- The ability to produce professional written communication, from emails to technical reports.
- You're comfortable talking to clients and business contacts, understanding business development.
- Minimum 3+ years' experience working in a consulting business preferred.
- Degree qualification (min) or grad qualification (preferred) in a relevant field – public policy, finance, economics, project management, urban planning, engineering, or design.

To register your interest, please apply and send your CV and application letter to c.daly@morrisonlow.com