Make a difference! Join us in helping communities flourish and build a brighter future through financial consulting, at Morrison Low your career will have a lasting impact.

We are seeking a management consultant with executive local government, consultancy or corporate finance experience. You should have strong financial strategy, business knowledge and analytical skills. Experience with business cases / section 17As / sourcing of funding would also be beneficial.

Our consultants and leaders work closely together on projects, which are usually team-based, and can be both short and long term. Your work may involve working in-house with our clients, from our offices, and we also support work from home days.

Our work typically includes long term financial planning, financial sustainability assessments, special rate variation and other pricing determination applications, financial assessment and forecasting for service and operational reviews, business case and capital expenditure review development, and reviews of waste, water, and developer contribution financial plans and pricing.

About you / Ko wai koe

As part of our team, you will demonstrate initiative and the ability to manage multiple deadlines. With a strong history of delivery, you will have a proven ability to think critically and strategically, solving problems in real time and developing solutions that create efficiency, deliver insights, and add value to client's business initiatives.

Ideally, you understand the challenges of local government, including multi-faceted and conflicting goals, and know what it takes to ensure that projects are delivered on time, within budget, to the highest quality standards.

You have a proven track record of building strong working relationships, engaging with stakeholders, and networking effectively.

Most importantly you enjoy thinking outside the box, are a good listener and communicator, and have a strong client service focus, priding yourself on creating workable, implementable solutions.

To be successful in this role, you will:

- Have a relevant degree and approximately 7+ years' experience
- Have experience working within the public sector and/or a consultancy environment
- Have excellent financial literacy and relevant qualifications
- Be an excellent listener who can become a trusted advisor
- Have superior written communication skills, and experience delivering accurate and engaging written and visual content that is tailored to the audience.
- Be able to look beyond the numbers to provide pragmatic solutions and practical advice to our clients
- Be comfortable self-managing your work, juggling competing demands and deadlines, and prioritising work efficiently
- Enjoy networking, meeting new people and building relationships with confidence presenting ideas to clients
- Be a keen learner, wanting to develop new skills and grow your career
- Have flexibility to travel.

We offer a competitive remuneration package, wellbeing initiatives, professional development, and ongoing career opportunities.

If the above resonates, we want to hear from you! Please apply and send your CV and cover letter either via Seek or to people@morrisonlow.com.

Please note all applicants must have the legal right to work in New Zealand.

We are an equal opportunity employer, committed to creating a diverse and inclusive culture that respects your unique circumstances.

No agencies please.
